Is Technology Making You Sick?

Our environment is filled with electricity due to the cultural prevalence of technology. As a result, human cells are overburdened with positive charges, causing cellular imbalance and a wide range of health problems.

The earth has a negative charge that can help to balance the body's electrical system, but we have become disconnected. Historically, people have been grounded: they slept on the ground, walked barefoot through the grass, and spent much of their working time outside in a world with few barriers to an earth connection. Because of this, people had fewer chronic, inexplicable health problems than we do today.

We must regain this connection to the negative ions emitted by the earth in order to help balance the cellular communication in our bodies. The mission of Foundations for Health is to become a leader in the natural health field, providing you with access to cutting-edge technologies, such as Grounding, that can reconnect you to the earth's beneficial properties and assist your body's natural healing process.

Foundations for Health offers Earthing Grounding Gear for purchase. This gear, ranging from sheets and blankets to pads for use in your car and office, utilizes silver thread to conduct the earth's energy to you and recharge your body's electrical system.

From now until Christmas, for every $150 spent on Earthing Grounding Gear, you will receive a FREE bottle of DesBio EMF Protection Homeopathic, a $20 value (while supplies last)!
